Miele Cooking Surfaces

VAUGHAN, ON ... June 16, 2006 – Miele Cooktops.

Fast, responsive and convenient, Miele is proud to introduce our new line of cooktops. Our new collection offers powerful performance with a flexible design that allows you to choose a cooktop with the right look for your kitchen environment.

Cooking is very much a matter of routine and that's why our cooktops offer many useful features to customize your cooking habits; including our assortment of gas cooking surfaces which are available in x-grate or contemporary linear design.

Our cooktops are available in natural or LP gas connections and have completely sealed burners that allow for easy cleaning and simple maintenance. The cooktops can be installed anywhere in the kitchen; built into an island, peninsula or along the wall and include centre or side knob controls that promote ease of use and safe operation.

When selecting a heat type, one necessary feature that everyone agrees on is performance and for that reason, our cooktop selection – both gas and electric – are designed to perform to your highest expectations.
